

Jadis, In Isolation

Nightmares tear at the innocent
It's a feeling so disguised
By a light that's shining in front of me
Brings the dreaming so alive

Breathless by the hour
I'm restless through the day
Woken by the power as a Nightmare breaks away
Falling from a crowded ledge
A spiralled twist of gold
It's the clearest form of madness
As the dreaming takes a hold

See them running to a hole in the ground
I can't keep it out of my head
Grow gently
Tears flow freely
Feeling my heart beating once again freely
I am beside myself
Flow freely
So much for dreaming
(I have gone too far)
Time to chase away
The final screaming (Find out where you are)
And now I'm here to face the...

White light shines before me now
I'm haunted after all, beckoning so
How do I explain what I see here?
Shaking like a leaf
And rolling like a stone
In isolation freedom calls
Clearing me the way
As night becomes my day Anticipating I begin to memorize the signs
Shaking like a leaf
And rolling like a stone
In isolated freedom
Breathing fast and slow
Many ways to go
What was wrong is right
Has day become my night?
When the light goes and the tears flow freely
It will take your breath away for the very last time
There's no way of knowing, if this is for real or imagination From crystal clear the dream is near the end
