

Jailbird, Go Insane

When the land of your father is calling you again.
Find the time
to embrace your loneliness.
When the sun is leaving the sky for a better end.
Find a place in your heart to remember your mortality.
So one day,
you shall wake up from reality and just leave your mind behind, since there is nothing left to do.
So one life,
you will feel the rain upon your skin knowing that it is your mother crying, since your father became an old man looking for his gold.