

Jake Owen, Something About A Woman

She pulled her hair back to sun her shoulders
Took the oil and rubbed it all over her soft skin
Oh I'm a lucky man
She wasn't wantin' any suntan lines so she Reached back and she untied that little string
And then she smiled at me

And blew a kiss right off her fingertips
I don't know what it is

But there's something about a woman
Yeah some kind sweet little something
That I may never understand
Yeah some kind of gift they're given
That makes this life worth livin'
And it makes a man a man
Oh there's nothing like that
Somethin' about a woman

(Intro chords)

I sat there for a while and wondered
And she took a nap there under that summer sky
And then I realized

There are things in life that are meant to be
Maybe left a mystery

Yeah like that something about a woman
Yeah some kind sweet little something
That I may never understand
Yeah some kind of gift they're given
That makes this life worth livin'
And it makes a man a man
Oh there's nothing like that
Somethin' about a woman

(steel solo)

Yeah some kind of gift they're given
That makes this life worth livin'
And it makes a man a man
Oh I'm nothing without that
Somethin' about a woman
Oh about a woman
