

James Lynn Strait, Sad Air

im addicted period. you know. i mean like. and its weird because so many of the population, so much of the population is addicted or - or you know compulsive. and impulsive. im really, like, compulsive about shit. when i cant fix my head with, you know, with a certain drug or whatever ill clean somehitng up. you know. or i'll, i get really like, fking fidgety and uncomfortable and i get, i fly off the handle easy, you know. its like if its not, if im not gorging myself on, on, on one thing im fking...im trying to fill that, that hole some other way, you know what i mean. its always this great feeling of need and it doesnt ne-necessarily have to be of anything in particular, its just something that you dont know what it is which drives you that much more insane sometimes. you know. and thats what a lot of people today, um, suffer from and a lot of people dont even realise it. you know. i dont profess to know everything about it but. u know. i dont know. i just uh. i know that theres that hole that needs t o be filled. and uh. a lot of people die trying.
