

James Taylor, First day of may

And the light between us Which we could not quite extinguish Which we see at dawn Burns on Fir