James Young, Something To Remember You By

I said you, you look kinda special, You've got a face that could leave an impression anywhere I said you, you know what you're doing Stone cold eyes, you might be fooling them but you ain't fooling me I know you, you tried to keep your distance Acted so aloof but I know you're just a shy girl

It seems impossible
Just the two of us here together
You like to hide behind all your friends, well Forget about them, forget about the weather and

Give me something to remember you by I just want good time memories Give me something to remember yo by I just want good time memories

Don't try to figure me out Just give me something to shout about Give me something to remember you by

I've got my travel plans You've got your reservations But before we say good night Use your imagination and

Give me something to remember you by...
