

Jamie O'Hara, For Reasons I've Forgotten

For reasons I've forgotten now,
We brought love to an end.
Ain't it funny how the little things,
Seemed so big back then.
Damn the pride that makes me want,
To break instead of bend.
For reasons I've forgotten now,
I lost my one true friend.

It's lonely tonight, lookin' back on yesterday.
Seein' the fool I was, feelin' the price I paid.
And the crazy thing about it is I don't even remember,
Who was right, who was wrong:

For reasons I've forgotten now,
We brought love to an end.
Ain't it funny how the little things,
Seemed so big back then.
Damn the pride that makes me want,
To break instead of bend.
For reasons I've forgotten now,
I lost my one true friend.