

Jan Howard, Hello Stranger

Hello stranger you look familiar you remind me of someone I used to love
But I guess stranger if I look longer you won't even resemble the one I'm thinking of
He has such warm tender loving hands while yours are very friendly to my touch
And like you even wore golden wedding band oh stranger I loved him so much
Well I guess you think I'm crazy goin' on like this Cause you know I know you're one and the same
And it's been so long now I just hope you're happy
With the one who did and still shares your name
[steel]
Hello stranger I hope you're happy with the one who did and still shares your name