

Janis Ian, Will You Dance

Someone is waiting
over by the window
just beyond the stairwell someone's crying
Drowning in the words of the prophets
that are written for the dead and the dying someone's lying
No one's buying

Someone is dying
Panic in the streets
can't get no release
someone escaping
waiting on a line
for the holy revolution
parading illusion
someone's using Most amusing

Will you dance?
will you dance?
smell of caviar and roses Teach your children all the poses How familiar are we all...
will you dance?
will you dance?
light fantastic in the morning How romantic to be whoring boring though it may be who'll survive
if you and I should fall?

someone is bleeding
crimson in the night
strangers, in the light
a sudden meeting Greeting one by one every life rund flashing
before those dashing eyes
Will you dance?
will you dance?
take a chance on romance
and a big surprise?
