Jann Arden, I Know You

I know that you're sorry

I know you've been drunk all week

I know that you did not mean to

Spit out those profanities

I know you're a loser

I know you've had bad skin all your life

I also know you will never find a wife

Someone who could love someone so hard

And you are

And you are

I don't think you're ugly

I just think the world has made you weary

I doubt very much you even hear anything I say to you

What's that on your shoulder?

Don't you know it's pulling you apart?

Every vein connected to your heart

Nobody could love someone so hard

I know you well enough to say

You need to start again

I hope you never underestimate yourself my friend

My friend

I think that you need me

Even though you tell yourself you don't

I will love you even though you won't

I will be your confidant

Won't you let me hold you?

Won't you let me kiss you on the mouth?

Oh I know you'll tell me to get out

It doesn't matter any way

I know you well enough to say

You need to start again

I hope you never underestimate yourself my friend

My friend, My friend, My friend

I know you so well

I know you so well

I know you so well
