

Japanese Popstars, Song For Lisa

No matter how well you play your hand
You cannot go home again. No!
No matter how well you play your hands
You cannot go home again. No!

We go walking far from here
I see nothing in the lines of your face
You are falling
Falling away from here
Give me something in your place

No matter how well you sprung your face
You cannot go home again
No matter how far your challenge is
You cannot go home again

We go walking far from here
I see nothing in the lines of your face
You are falling
Falling away from here
Give me something in your place