

Jason Donovan, Nothing Can Divide Us

Don't cry
you must have heard some things about me
That made you turn away that made you have your doubts about me.
You were hearing rumours
I can see it in your eyes

They tried to get you to believe that someone else could take your place.

You can put your faith in me
I wonder never set you free

Hold you head up high and let everybody see:
With love to guide us nothing can divide us.

Don't cry
there has to be some trust inside us

Don't let it slip away
don't ever let a lie divide us.
So don't believe a word they're tell you

Life is full of jealous people with a jealous lie to sell you.

You can put your faith in me
I would never set you free

You can put your trust in me
love will have its victory

Nothing in the world will ever change what's in my heart:
With love beside us nthing can divide us!

You were hearing rumours
I can see it in your face

They tried to get you to believe that someone else could take your place.
You can put your faith in me
I would never set you free

With love to guide us nothing can divide us

With love to guide us nothing can divide us.

You can put your faith in me
I would never set you free

You can put your trust in me
love will have its victory
