

Jean Leloup, Each Star

You say forget me and try to take care of yourself
That I should work in a grocery store and give my love to the fruits instead

Instead...

Always take the healthiest way and say hello to the sun
He's always in the sky you say even in those rainy days

Those rainy days...

And it all came back along in my mind like a country song
The sweetest things I've flung all came back along

Tup tup tup...

Forgive me I was bitter when I said about you and your sky
Why there were so many stars, cause each one is a broken heart.

Broken heart...

Each star is a broken heart (x4)

Each star