Jean Shepard, Before I'm Over You

I just can't get it through my head you love another now instead Can't make myself believe we're really through I'm walking up and down the hall talking to a silent wall I'll lose my mind before I'm over you I think I've almost lost my mind I think about you all the time I'm going crazy yes I know and I don't have far to go The way you treat me is a shame but I'll keep loving you the same I'll lose my mind before I'm over you [steel] I keep your letters I should burn I wear your ring I should returned There's a million foolish things I do

It makes me cry but you would laugh to know I kiss your photograph I'll lose my mind before I'm over you

I think I've almost lost my mind...
