

Jean Shepard, Corner Of Despair

We were both two lonely people life had passed us by somewhere
Till that night they introduced us on the corner of despair
We had both in one time loser and our loss was hard to bear
Till we met there in the shadow on the corner of despair
We were both in need of someone who could offer love and care
So we walked away together from the corner of despair
From the corner of despair