

Jean Shepard, Enough Heart To Hurt

You've gone away and left me here to cry you wouldn't even care if I should die
You've treated me like I was only dirt and left me just enough heart to hurt
You've taken all the good times that we had and left me here with nothing but the bad
The dreams I have are ones that didn't worth now I've got just enough heart to hurt
I've got just enough heart to hurt the little bit you left me only makes it worst
How could you ever treat me so unkind
The least you could have done was take my mind
My mind's just taken me from bad to worse now I've got just enough heart to hurt
Yes I've got just enough heart to hurt
