

Jean Shepard, So Wrong, So Fast

As I sit here alone and in silence reliving each day of the past
I'm searching my life for one answer how things went so wrong so fast
Don't tell me that it is all over for if I was wrong in the past
I'll help build the brand new tomorrow that won't go so wrong so fast
[guitar]

We lived every day for each other no love was more certain to last
But somewhere and somehow it wavered then things went so wrong so fast
The little mistakes we'd forgotten the carelessly marks that were cast
All came back in one angry moment and things went so wrong so fast
Don't tell me that it is all over...