Jefferson Starship, Live And Let Live

You been holding back And I know you're afraid to feel Some one hurt you long ago And the wounds just did not heal

You never shed a tear You had to keep control So the wounds kept spreading Until they got down in your soul

Don't you think it's time Time to forgive Leave the past behind Live and let live

Been holding onto anger Now it's got a hold on you And bitterness keeps growing Affecting everything you do Time to break the chains You could slip them off today It's time to make some changes Before your whole life slips away

Don't you think it's time Time to forgive Leave the past behind Live and let live

Don't you think it's time Time to forgive Leave the past behind Live and let live

Don't you think it's time Time to forgive Leave the past behind Live and let live