

Jem And The Holograms, You Already Know

I could tell you how much I love you
I could tell you how much I care
I could tell you how the thought of you
Sets my dreams aglow
But you already know(you already know)
How much I love you
You already know
You already know how much I love you
You already know
I never said that if you love me
My heart would be broken
But I'm certain that you would know
Without a word being spoken
But you already know(you already know)
How much I love you
You already know
You already know how much I love you
You already know
You already know how much I love you
You already know