

Jennifer Brown, Nobody Knows Me

let's run away, oh yeah nobody has to know where out of this place where all the madness where the world don't understands us we've gotta get outta here isn't it strange ans smoothing i can never hide the truth from you like the flowers know the rain like the healer knows the pain all my world you see right trough sometimes i may trip and fall you pick me up when i tumble the fall

nobody knows me like you do nobody feels me like you do with you i know i never loose coz nobody knows me, nobody knows me like you do and as the sun falls slightly into tomorrows hands we can sleep under the darkness feeling safe beneath the stardust together we will stand real friends don't fade away but how can i ever find someone who get's me this way ooh oh

nobody knows me like you do
nobody feels me like you do
with you i know i never loose coz nobody knows me, nobody knows me like you do

like you do