

Jennifer Brown, Trembling

you say
you have partners in bed but you never made love
you say
don't hold back emotions, trust and it's not easy for me to hold the diamond close there's a little girl inside of me that just don't know

and she is

trembling, trembling
remembering
the glass ring of yesterday

you sigh, honey
this is not about saying goodbye
i cry
i just can't believe
you arrived
and it's not like me to throw caution in the wind there's a frightened girl inside of me that never will
and she is

trembling, trembling
remembering
the glass ring of yesterday

i say
life without you with me ain't my style and i pray
that everything we wish for stays divine so help me when i'm walking dressed in white and promise me that you'll forever hold me tight so i'm not

trembling, trembling
remembering
the glass ring
i'm not trembling, trembling
remembering
the glass ring of yesterday