

Jennifer Brown, Universe

you lift me from myself you take me somewhere else is this something i am dreaming? never wake me if im sleeping take me with you to your universe slowly lift me to your own world because lying in your arms is sweet surrender and i never had a love so tender and complete you feel me with just one look you read me like a book overcome the fears that i have hidden it steers me back towards the rhythm

take me with you to your universe

let me glide along with you towards the heavens let me float between the living and the dreaming

take me with you to your universe
