

Jennifer Rush, The Right Time Has Come Now

You came out of nowhere
I won't go there
It was a place full of dispare
I sure wouldn't feel any shame
If you no longer knew my name
No I don't dare so much
But I need more than just you're touch

The right time has come now
Ooo show me some emotion, hey
The right time has come now
Ooo show me some emotion, hey

It wasn't enough to brake my heart
You took it and you tore it apart
My love stands right here before your eyes
Ooh your eyes
But it's plain to see that your love lies
Though you might be the first

It could never be much worse

The right time has come now
Ooo show me some emotion, hey
The right time has come now
Ooo show me some emotion

Matter of fact, now the right time has come
In the wrong direction running myself down
It's gonna stop now
Ready or not, now the right time has come
In the wrong direction running myself down
It's gonna stop now, oh

Though you might be the first
It could never be much worse

The right time has come now
The right time has come now