

Jenny Hyun, I Still Believe in Love

It was a clear summer day when I saw the tears on your face I knew that our time was up on us Our moment of end was so fast but the kiss of goodbye always lasts not even time could fade it away
Even though you are no longer here
there is still something between us
Even though life isn't fair
I'll never lose my trust
Just another lesson to be learned gotta move on and not lose faith
just another obstacle to take
live my life before it gets too late
I won't give up, I won't stay down this is what life's worth living for
I still believe in love
I'm holding the warmth of your lips it feels like the first time we kissed when all of the stars lined up for us but like the wind you said goodbye and left me alone here to cry we shouldn't have gone our separate ways
Even though you are no longer here
there is still something between us
Even though life isn't fair
I'll never lose my trust
Just another lesson to be learned
gotta move on and not lose faith
Just another obstacle to take
live my life before it gets too late
I won't give up, I won't stay down
this is what life's worth living for
I still believe in love
Just another lesson to be learned
gotta move on and not lose faith
just another obstacle to take
live my life before it gets too late
I won't give up, I won't stay down
this is what life's worth living for
I still believe in love