

Jens Johansson, In the Mirror

all in a flash of light the truth is deep, the grave is shallow, a deeper mystery found, but there's no one to follow

I see myself, a burning fire, the clock is ticking away, but I've never been higher beyond the sky, is something there, I'm asking why, too much to bear, I'll find my peace, it's in the light in the mirror, seeing clearer, I see my soul

a flash of light, without a warning, the spell was broken again, with the mist of the morning adrift in space, just like I'm falling, I vanish into the wall, is it Death that is calling in the mirror, seeing clearer, seeing nearer, reach into the light

all in a flash of light