

Jeremy Camp, Breathe

You fill my empty soul
I'd give you all control
You take this heart of mine
And make the pieces whole
You broke this fear inside
I'll leave these cares behind
You take this simple mold
And sanctify my mind
You formed me before I was known
I was made your own now

Breathe in me
Breathe the breath of life
It's more than I can see
Breathe in me
Breathe the breath of life
It's more than I can see

You took on everything to make me feel complete
You answered every call
You're never far from reach
You lift me when I fail
You break down every wall
You feel my every need, I dedicate my all
You took this failed attempt to stand
And you carry me now

I won't hesitate to call
When I'm empty from within
And I know the source of life
Are the very words you give
You formed before I was known
And I was made your own now