

Jeremy Enigk, Been Here Before

Been here before.

Though there's something in the air this time.

Now I wanna give away what I've taken back.

Run away with you toward the night.

A thousand names.

Though this something in me cannot smile,

don't wanna spend the day retracing steps.

Run away with you toward the light.

I can't stay long in the morning.

Another world went wrong - it's ok.

Now that you're gone,

hold me in your eyes or suddenly deny

I sympathize.

Those diamond days

A thousand strands of sunlight in her eyes.

Now I wanna give away what I've taken back.

Step away with you toward the night.

Hold me in your eyes or suddenly deny

I empathize.

Hurry up and sleep,

to the night you go.
