

Jerk, I Hate People Like That

Don't you want me?
I'd like it more if you'd just save me
But I forget the reason why you think I should care
It's not my problem
I'll call you when I want some
But I forget the reason why you think I should care

I hate people like that
Cos people like that
Treat you like that
When you got something
I hate people like that
Cos people like that
Treat you like that
When they want something

It's like a psycho
I try to talk about it. What? No
You wouldn't listen when I said it all gets better
It's time to let it go
You're only breathing cos I say so
And I can tell you that it still won't get much better

I hate people like that
Cos people like that
Treat you like that
When they want something
I hate people like that
Cos people like that
Treat you like that
When you got something

I hate people like that
Cos people like that
Treat you like that
You got to push up and stand
You got to push yourself then

Now you're frozen
Caught in the headlights of the chosen
But I'll still be here baby when it all gets better
Hey man, that's way cool
Face down amongst the cesspool
Now all the bitches in the world won't make you better

I hate people like that
Cos people like that
Treat you like that
When they want something
I hate people like that
Cos people like that
Treat you like that
When you got something

I hate people like that
Cos people like that
Treat you like that
When you got something
I hate people like that
Cos people like that
Treat you like that
Treat you like that

I hate people like that

When people like that
Treat you like that
You got to push up and stand
You got to push yourself then

They say life's what you make it (x13)