Jessica Andrews, There's More To Me Than You

I spent years and all of this time

Thinking I was better off

Cause you were mine

You always said it was your way or the highway

So I'm shiftin my life into drive

I'm getting out, kissin' the past good-bye

Like Toby said

"How do you like me now?"

This conversation has run dry

And I keep telling myself

Oooh Oooh ooh

There's more to me than you

Oooh Oooh

Don't under-estimate what I can do

I'm alright

It's OK

I know I'll make it through

Cause there's more to me than you

I'm not sayin I'm battered and bruised

But I might as well be with the words you use

I believe in myself that makes me stronger

Things change, So have I

I'm gonna make hay while the sun still shines

You can clip my wing, I'm still gonna fly

I'm on my own and I'm on my way

And I keep telling myself

Oooh Oooh ooh

There's more to me than you

Oooh Oooh

Don't underestimate what I can do

I'm alright

It's OK

I know I'll make it through

Cause there's more to me than you

There was always something that meant more to you than me

And I'm just sorry it's taken this for you to see

Oooh Oooh ooh

There's more to me than you

Well I'm alright

It's OK

I know I'll make it through

Cause there's more to me than you

Oooh Oooh ooh

There's more to me than you

Oooh Oooh

There's more to me than you

There's more to me than you
