

Jessica Andrews, There's More To Me Than You

I spent years and all of this time
Thinking I was better off cause you were mine
You always said it was your way or the highway
So I'm shiftin' my life into drive
I'm getting out, kissin' the past goodbye
Like Toby said, "How Do You Like Me Now?"
This conversation has run dry
And I keep telling myself

Oooh oooh oooh
There's more to me than you
Oooh oooh
Don't underestimate what I can do
Well I'm alright, it's ok
I know I'll make it through
Cause there's more to me than you

I'm not sayin' I'm battered and bruised
But I might as well be with the words you use
I believe in myself and that makes me stronger
Things change, so have I
I'm gonna make hay while the sun still shines
You can clip my wings, I'm still gonna fly

I'm on my own and I'm on my way
And keep telling myself

Oooh oooh oooh
There's more to me than you
Oooh oooh
Don't underestimate what I can do
Well I'm alright, it's ok
I know I'll make it through
Cause there's more to me than you

There was always something that meant more to you than me
And I'm just sorry it's taken this long for you to see

Oooh oooh oooh
There's more to me than you
Oooh oooh
Don't underestimate what I can do
Well I'm alright, it's ok
I know I'll make it through
Cause there's more to me than you
