

Jessica Folker, Missing You Crazy

Where is the love we always said would always stay?
How could we come this far and let it slip away?
Friends tell me just be strong and take it with a smile, but they never see the pain that hides behind my eyes

'Cause I can't deny my passion for you,
as hard as I try it always breaks through

I'm missing you crazy,
it's breaking me down
I'm missing you crazy,
I keep losing ground

Too many empty days and nights since you've been gone, so hard this getting used to being on my own My mind says I should be taking your pictures off the wall, but although my poor heart is breaking I still believe you'll call

'Cause I can't deny my passion for you,
as hard as I try it always breaks through

I'm missing you crazy,
it's breaking me down
I'm missing you crazy,
I keep losing ground

Friends tell me just be strong and take it with a smile
All hearts can heal in time, but mine will take a while You never gave me reasons, never told me why You only said you're leaving, even as I cried

I'm missing you crazy,
it's breaking me down
I'm missing you crazy,
I keep losing ground