

Jessica Riddle, Everything

Her heart was racing to sounds
Of dreams she'd never known
But her perfect plan was not their perfect plan
Just her way to let go
They held each others hands
To try to suddenly display
That they love her and will miss her if she goes away
But the words were buried too deep for them to say
But she couldn't stay
She couldn't stay cause

They gave her everything
She gives him everything
Yeah everything
could I love you more

And he will be waiting
So sure as the promise he had made
The words were intoxicating
And singing and remembering
As the smell of a room began to fade
But the words were buried too deep
For her to ignore
And she wouldn't mourn
She wouldn't mourn cause

They gave her everything
She gives him everything
Yeah everything
Could I love you more
If I gave you everything

Now day is night and love dissolved with my love he still needed to go
I couldn't write all there is with
With my love but I know

I gave him everything
They gave me everything
Yeah everything
Could I love him more
If you gave me

They gave me everything
I gave him everything
Yeah everything
And I love you more
Could i love you more
