

Jessy Greene, Laughing

Every time I know the way I think I'm going my world collides
With the edge of the universe
I try, research to find, directions to the end of the rainbow
But it's gone.

Life is laughing at me, running after rainbows
That always vanish in the clouds.
Life is laughing at me now.

Every time I go away I find what I've been looking for is back at the beginning
All I needed was inside.
Wouldn't it be nice to know, everything is sweet like honey, my love.

Life is laughing at me, running after rainbows
That always vanish in the clouds.

Go ahead, think I'm funny
But I won't give up.
Zooming threw this big, big sky, one day again our planets will collide
To brighten up my universe.

Life is laughing at me, running after rainbows
That always vanish in the clouds.
Life is laughing at me now