

Jethro Tull, Jack Forst and the hooded crow

Through long December nights we talk in words of rain or snow while you, through chattering teeth