

Jewel, Silver Lining

My muffins are in the toaster
I got my raspberry jam
My grandfather was a sailor that came onto this land and he was looking for gold, a pretty hand to hold,
or some cards to fold.
At least, that's what I was told.

Silver Lining
Silver Lining, where'd you go?

Turn on my TV
They got talking heads in space used to be so easy to have a little faith
I used to rely on luck
To earn an honest buck
I didn't feel so stuck
I didn't limp around, like Jon Kruk.

Silver Lining
Silver Lining, where'd you go?

I used to have hope
Now we got soap on a rope
I used to have dreams
Now we got overplayed baseball teams
We got grocery baggers, grafitti taggers, golf-ball shaggers, go team go.

Silver Lining
Silver Lining, where'd you go?

My landlord knocks upon my door
He's got that payday face
I swear to God he should be payin me
To live inside this place It's filled with sharks and fins whose double chins say Thicken your skin, child
if you want to win

Silver Lining
Silver Lining, where'd you go?

I fix myself some herbal tea cause it's healthier they say well, healthier ain't half as fun
I take a cold beer anyday
I used to have dysfunctional fun in the cancerous sun with my co-dependent hon eatin greasy greasy hotdogs on a buttered up bun

Silver Lining
Silver Lining, where'd you go?
Silver Lining
Silver Lining, where'd you go?
