

Jim Ed Brown & The Browns, I'd Just Be Fool Enough

I'd Just Be Fool Enough (To Fall)
I'D JUST BE FOOL ENOUGH (TO FALL)
(Melvin Endsley)

Oh, please don't be so careless with your glances
Don't look at me that way and breathe a sigh
And please don't get too close and let me love you
'Cause I'd just be fool enough to try.

It's not that I don't think I'm worthy of you
But mem'ries from the past I still recall
Don't let me hold you in my arms and kiss you
'Cause I'd just be fool enough to fall.

--- Instrumental ---

Don't let me tell you how I've dreamed about you
And longed to have a love that I could share
And please don't let your eyes be so revealing
'Cause I'd just be fool enough to care.

It's not that I don't think I'm worthy of you
But mem'ries from the past I still recall
Don't let me hold you in my arms and kiss you
'Cause I'd just be fool enough to fall...
