Jim Ed Brown & The Browns, I'd Just Be Fool End

I'd Just Be Fool Enough (To Fall)
I'D JUST BE FOOL ENOUGH (TO FALL)
(Melvin Endsley)

Oh, please don't be so careless with your glances Don't look at me that way and breathe a sigh And please don't get too close and let me love you 'Cause I'd just be fool enough to try.

It's not that I don't think I'm worthy of you But mem'ries from the past I still recall Don't let me hold you in my arms and kiss you 'Cause I'd just be fool enough to fall.

--- Instrumental ---

Don't let me tell you how I've dreamed about you And longed to have a love that I could share And please don't let your eyes be so revealing 'Cause I'd just be fool enough to care.

It's not that I don't think I'm worthy of you But mem'ries from the past I still recall Don't let me hold you in my arms and kiss you 'Cause I'd just be fool enough to fall...
