

Jim White, If Jesus Drove A Motor Home

If Jesus drove a motor home, I wonder would he drive pedal to the metal, or real slow? Checking out playing Bob Dylan, motivation tapes. Tricked up Winnebago, with the tie-dye drapes. If Jesus drove a motor home, and he come to your town, would you try to talk to him? Would you follow him the drive thru. Double-parking at the mall. Midnight at the Waffle House - Jesus eating eggs with ya motor home... Buddha on a motorcycle, Mohammed in a train. Here come Jesus in the passing lane everybody's grooving. Ain't nothing like the feeling of moving with a bona fide motorized savior. No motor homes, well maybe in the end, with no country to die for, we could just be friends. One world no yours or my way. We'd be cool wherever we roam - if Jesus drove a motor home.
