

Jimmy Dean, Who Put The Leaving In Your Eyes

There you are a standing at the window again
I know there's something tuggin' at your soul
You look like you could run a hole right to the wind
You're burning up with desire to go
Your touch has a finger of the cold north wind oh I know it's all over goodbye
But I know that you don't have the strenght to leave alone
So who put the leaving in your eyes
Who planted this satisfaction in your mind
Who gave you the strenght to say goodbye
Who put that restless feeling in your soul who put the leaving in your eyes [guitar]
For so long we've been headed down a oneway street we've both lost all desire to try
But I know that you ain't got the strenght to leave yourself
So who put the leaving in your eyes
Who planted this satisfaction in your mind...
Who put the leaving in your eyes yeah honey who put the leaving in your eyes