

Jimmy Lafave, When I See You Again

Jimmy Lafave, "Highway Trance";

Trains late at night, travelling shoes
Dogs in the country moaning the blues
Lost on the landscape, my thumb in the wind
The feeling I get when I see you again

Sleep in the mountains, first light on the plains
The smell of the prairie after it rains
Buffalo gals and laughter times ten
The feeling I get when I see you again

A child's innocence, great big thunderclouds
Bob Dylan records, the carnival crowd
Beautiful ladies, forgiveness of sin
The feeling I get when I see you again

Thoughts way up high, the moon hanging low
Abandoned bus stations, AM radio
Beat generation, highways that bend
The feeling I get when I see you again

Trains late at night, travelling shoes
Dogs in the country moaning the blues
Lost on the landscape, my thumb in the wind
The feeling I get when I see you again

Yes the feeling I get just to see you again
The feeling I get when I see you again
