

Jimmy Robbins, Let The Dreams Die

Verse 1

the sun exploded into pieces of hope but i wasn't there to grab one, no it's the saddest songs on the saddest nights that make us cry and with that we sit back prepared to watch our dreams die the stars burn up and leave us in the dark our shadows brighter then our hearts it's the nights i spend all alone that make me so dry

Chorus

and all that i see are clouds looking down on me and all that i need is this moment but i swear we're lost

the moon fell from the sky tonight but we broke its fall with our heads held high it's the breaths we take that make the hearts we break so clear that we're nothing and the sad thing is we're content here the streetlights speak mysteries to our eyes and we feel safe in the pain we hide behind it's the words we breathe that point out to me we're broken and the sad thing is we're nothing and we're hopeless

Chorus

Bridge

and we cry out for everything we missed when we got lost in the memories well i remember you, do you remember me?
