

Jimmy Robbins, Tonight

Sometimes the feeling stays
The same heart but a new face
And we all know how it feels to be left out

But tonight but tonight we're holding
Won't give up won't give in we're standing strong
We'll wage this war of broken hearts with ourselves
Fighting ghosts of the things we never felt

Sometimes our breath speaks words
Speaks the emotions our words never learned
And we all know how it feels to be left out

But tonight but tonight we're holding
Won't give up won't give in we're standing strong
We'll wage this war of broken hearts with ourselves
Fighting ghosts of the things we never felt

Sometimes all that we need, is a little piece of everything
Would you be our everything tonight?
Sometimes all we want to feel, is a little piece of all that's real
Would you be real tonight?
Sometimes all that we see is emptiness echoed by green
Would you be our color tonight?