

Jo Davidson, Mental Pollution

music and lyrics by jo davidson

Well I can't blame the rain for all of my pain and I can't blame the clouds and I can't blame the sky or be jealous of the birds that fly

does anybody hear me
because I don't

because I lost my hearing long ago from the media bombs going off in my living room lies on the tv lies in the movies
lies on the billboards nobody tells the truth
I'm going deaf

does anybody hear

I'm tired of all the violence we've lost lives enough and I'm tired of all the nudity so much sex without love and I'm tired of all the smokers blowing smoke in my face and the same old boring models decorating every fashion page I don't trust the politicians or the movie ratings board and I'm tired of fighting all these inner and outer wars I've got bullets in my head I've got blood in my ears and the world could drown from the truth that's in my tears

because I don't because I . . .
