

Joan Armatrading, Beyond The Blue

You put me in touch
With all my senses
You showed me the way

I've never been close
To such feelings
I did not beg
But you cured me of
My broken heart

I'll never forget
The day that we met
Hmm so sweet
Like honey from the bee

You put yourself square
To my defenses
Tore down the walls
Walked right in
And you stole my heart

Up up and above
Beyond the blue
Way beyond the stars
Someone looked at me
And thought of you
Reached out and touched us so soft
Like gentle snow

I'll never forget
The day that we met
You are so sweet
You're like honey from the bee

You put yourself square
To my defenses
Tore down the walls
Walked right in
And you
And stole my my heart

Tore down the walls
Stole my heart

Tore down the walls
Walked right in
And you stole my heart
