

Joan Armatrading, The Power Of Dreams

Somehow you supply
All of the answers
I've fallen for your lack of mystery
Your honest emotions
Your love for me
Has opened up my world
Renewed my taste for life
Nothing was easy
Till you

You came everything else just fell into place
Till you
Daily routine was dragging me down

But somewhere deep inside
All disillusion
Were shattered by your hand touching mine
The strength of a new love
Can conquer all
I ever want is here
By any other name The power of love

You came everything else just fell into place
You made all of the bad times
Just disappear
My step is light
You made my soul and my spirits fly
And how my fortune changed
The power of change

All I ask of all my hopes
My one recurring dream
The power of dreams
The power of dreams