Joan Jett And The Blackhearts, Naked

Built a house of cards around your heart Show yourself to no one Wear a mask Didn't think you'd tear it all apart Didn't know you had the nerve for that Every bit of trouble that I've cherished Every bit of truth that I let perish Every little bit of me is naked I am naked now I am naked now I am naked now Yeah

Close your eyes and wonder why it's dark Built a house of cards around your heart Act surprised when you keep fallin' down Something about you is like a spark Didn't think you'd tear it all apart

Yeah you burn all other life down to the ground Every bit of time that I have wasted Every bit of truth I never tasted Every little bit of me is naked I am naked now I am naked now I am naked now

Every bit of trouble that I've cherished Every bit of truth that I let perish Every little bit of me is naked I am naked now I am naked now I am naked now I am naked now Naked now Now Naked now Now I am naked now Now I am naked now