Joan Jett And The Blackhearts, World Of Denial

(Joan Jett/K. Aaronson)

How did we get to this place? I thought that we would have settled this by now I thought that blood was thicker than mud I guess I was wrong

If love was a ship sailing oceans deep Then your ship's sinkin' cuz it sprung a leak You'll learn the truth but it may take a while Because you're livin' in a world of denial

All we have is our family an' our friends Why let this thing come to a painful end? I thought that we'd embrace Instead we pull away I guess I was wrong

If love was a ship sailing oceans deep Then your ship's sinkin' cuz it sprung a leak You'll learn the truth but it may take a while Because you're livin' in a world of denial

Go on - keep on playin' dirty Go on - keep on breaking all the rules Go on - keep doin' what your doin' You're gonna look good on the front page news

If love was a ship sailing oceans deep Then your ship's sinkin' cuz it sprung a leak You'll learn the truth but it may take a while Because you're livin' in a world of denial

You got control so you just don't care But it won't be me who'll go runnin' scared You'll learn the truth but it may take a while Cause you're just livin' in a world of denial