

Jodie Brooke Wilson, Temporary Madness

Temporary Madness
Jodie Brooke Wilson

two trees that grow together til the roots are inseparable so close, so deep that separation is inconceivable, unthinkable, impossible ..
They are one life indivisible.

* an ever closer, union of souls
a force of nature
that nothing can control
it's a temporary madness that no one ever learned that love is what you're left with when reality returns
your falling in love
temporary madness fills your heart cupid's arrow cuts right through you .. sentimental fool that's who you are ...
your fallin in love.
suddenly your stumbling in the dark think you know your way but do you?
drivin with no brakes
you've gone too far..

its like your in my DNA
like it was always gonna feel this way.
and i know that I've been here before like stepping blindly into space another time, another place that so familiar .
Its unbelievable.

(repeat *)