

Jody Miller, She Calls Me Baby

When she holds me in her arms I forget you for awhile
Cause we feel things that you don't understand
And when she kisses me goodnight I feel better for awhile
Now I can't sleep just holding her hand
She calls me baby you do she calls me baby she calls me baby
[strings]
If you didn't hurt me so then I'd never have to go
Away from you and straight into her arms
But sometimes every girl needs a shoulder to cry on
And she's always there and she'll always care she always calls me baby
