

Joe Diffie, Praise And Alleluia To The Savior

On Christmas morn' a son was born
No one knew he'd be the King of Kings
A baby child so meek and mild
And through the ages, angel voices sing

Praise and Alleluia to the Savior
Give thanks to God for all the gifts he brings
Praise and Alleluia to the Savior
And don't forget what Christmas really means

Wise men came, they knew his name
That blessed day went down in history
And still today he lights the way
And shows his love for all the world to see

Praise and Alleluia to the Savior
Give thanks to God for all the gifts he brings
Praise and Alleluia to the Savior
And don't forget what Christmas really means

Pretty bows and mistletoe
Families gathered 'round the Christmas tree
And while they share their Christmas fare
They remember that the greatest gift was free

Praise and Alleluia to the Savior
Give thanks to God for all the gifts he brings
Praise and Alleluia to the Savior
And don't forget what Christmas really means

Praise and Alleluia to the Savior
And don't forget what Christmas really means